Is there a difference between these two combinations?

If yes, what exactly is it?

If not: Could you give a brief description of what is going on here?

Yes, of course you were right: There is actually quite a significant difference between these two lines.

The first combo shows financial trouble. You have been misled, things are going on behind your back, people are keeping financial secrets from you, which affects you badly.

The second line of cards, however, does not hint at any kind of betrayal whatsoever. Yes, here too we can see a precarious financial situation, but there is no secret to be seen.

In fact, things are going to clear up and the problems will finally disappear
